

Ever since the close of the war the Democrats in the South have made a bitter cry against the Northern men who saw fit to settle in the Southern States. Those men were called carpet-baggers and political tramps, and were treated with unrelenting hostility. The Southerners assumed that no man who had been in the Federal army, or who had been a resident of the North, had a right to buy a farm, enter into business, live or vote in the South, unless, perchance, he voted the straight Confederate ticket. Some of the men of the North, who saw a business opening in the South at the close of the rebellion, and improved it as they had a right to do. Many of them went on plantations, others entered the mercantile trade, and not a few went into politics. All this was legitimate enough. A great many enterprising and able men went South shortly after the war and sought and obtained office. There may have been among them a few political rogues, but as a rule those who were placed in positions of profit and trust, proved themselves as honorable and as capable as those who had filled places before the war, or since the fall of what is called the "carpet-bag" rule. As an illustration of the workings of a State government under this "carpet-bag" rule, and under the Democratic or local self-government, plan let us take Louisiana. Among all the men who went South after the war and were fortunate enough to get office, none have been more bitterly or heartlessly assailed than William Pitt Kellogg. He went from Illinois. He resigned the Chief Justiceship of Nebraska, to take command of a cavalry regiment. He did good service, and was soon promoted to a brigadier general. He was compelled to leave the army on account of ill-health, and in 1868 was appointed Collector of the Port of New Orleans. In 1871 he was elected to the Senate, and was finally elected Governor of Louisiana. In no State in the South had there ever been waged a more bitter contest than that which grew out of his election. He was honestly elected, and was an able man, and it came to pass that he made one of the best Governors the State ever had. The Democrats called him a villainous politician, a man without the least moral principle, a liar by practice and a thief by profession. Kellogg, however, could not be daunted by the abuse he daily received from the Democracy. He went on administering the affairs of State, and closed his term. Since the Democrats have succeeded in disfranchising the Republican party in that State and thereby putting in operation their pet scheme of local self-government, it is well to make a comparison of the two plans of doing business, and from this we can judge which party administered the laws wisely and which corrupted office for the sake of gain. On the 5th of January, 1873, when Kellogg was inaugurated Governor, there was a State debt of more than 23 millions of dollars. The debt was too enormous for the State to pay, and a compromise was made for sixty cents on the dollar, and the interest was decreased to seven per cent. During Kellogg's term of four years, the credit of the State was maintained, the interest on the debt was paid when it became due, and in January, 1877, when Nichols went into office, there was a surplus in the State treasury amounting to $781,000. Financially the State was in good condition, and the people had reason to hope that with ordinary economy and moderate wisdom on the part of the Democratic administration, the State would continue to prosper. But they were disappointed. Governor Nichols has been in office only one year this month. The State treasury is empty, the interest on the debt is due and unpaid, the State debt has been increased two millions and the Democratic administration is now begging for aid, and that among Republicans! Kellogg's fiscal agent was a substantial character both in money and principle, named Oglesby. Nichols discharged him and appointed another. Now when the credit of the State is gone, the treasury empty, the debt increasing, the Government is begging for help. Oglesby has been appealed to and asked to advance money to pay the January interest, and he has promised under certain conditions to do so. But Nichols' agent won't resign until a complete settlement is made with him. This is the condition of things under a genuine Democratic administration which has promised so much for the people and has accomplished so little.

CANADIAN MONEY.

At present there is a good deal of Canadian money being put in circulation in the Western States, and it becomes a matter of interest to the public to know the value of that currency. It is said that nearly one-half of the Canadian banks are either crippled, suspended, or busted, while the currency of the other half is at a discount of from 1/2 to 5/8 per cent. The banks in the West place this discount upon them, for the reason that the currency is not as safe as our own. In Michigan, the State with money and either getting goods or United States currency for it. Persons should examine well the bills issued by all the Canada banks, and agree not to take it until it is ascertained at the banks whether the bill is a sound one or not, and if good, its real value in our money. This caution will probably save persons from loss. The paper of the following banks is received at 5/8 per cent discount in Michigan and in northern Indiana: Bank of Prince Edward's Island, Union Bank of Prince Edward's Island, Merchant's Bank of Halifax, Farmer's Bank of Hoston, Summerside Bank, Bank

The Legislative Solons Assembling—Canvassing for the Offices—The New County Officers—Illness of Prof. Nicodemus.
Special to the Gazette.
MADISON, Jan. 6.—A few members of the Legislature and office seekers arrived here on the early trains to-day. More will be here this afternoon, and canvassing will begin. Among the candidates mentioned are the following: Chas. E. Bros, of Madison, has no opposition for Chief Clerk of the Senate. For Sergeant at Arms—Brayton, of Marquette, Ingersoll, of Beloit. For Speaker of Assembly, Kelley, of Beloit. Eldred, of Milwaukee, Lamb, Fond du Lac; Young, of Sauk; Haus of Madison; Fargo, of Richland; Torrey, of Winnebago, are candidates for Sergeant at Arms. Two candidates are prominent, Knights, of Pepin; and Cover, of Grant. H. O. Field seems to have no opposition for the position of book keeper of the Assembly.

The Senatorial question is quiet on the surface, but as that is the all absorbing question much quiet work is in progress by friends of different candidates.

GRANT IN IRELAND.

The Nationalists in the Cork Council Refuse to Receive the General—Indignation at the Conduct of the Wind-Bags.

LONDON, January 5.—The Herald correspondent at Dublin telegraphs to-day as follows:

The contrast between the generous welcome extended to General Grant by the people of this city, and the uncalled for and spiteful slight aimed at him by a clique of the Cork City Council, is interesting as showing to what lengths sectional and religious agitations are sometimes carried. As previously telegraphed you, Mr. Richmond, the United States Consul at Cork, addressed a letter to the City Council announcing that General Grant would probably arrive in Cork within a few days. Mr. Tracy, a Nationalist, proposed at the Council meeting that the letter should simply be marked "read," and that no action should be taken.

Mr. Harris, a Conservative, said: "It will be to the interest of our countrymen in the United States if a proper reception is accorded to General Grant, who represents the governing party in that country. There need be no personal antipathy to the gentleman himself, neither was there anything in the government of the ex-President objectionable to the Irish people or unpleasant to the Irish in America. General Grant would be again at the head of the United States, in which event it would be to the interests of our fellow countrymen in America if proper recognition was given to General Grant on his arrival at Cork."

Mr. Barry, an extreme Nationalist said the ex-President had insulted the Irish people in America. He got up the "No Popery" cry there.

Mr. Tracy said it would be unbecoming for the Catholic constituency of Cork to welcome such a man. It would be unbecoming to refuse him hospitality if he deserved it, but he saw nothing in General Grant's career that called for sympathy from the Irish nation. He never thought of the Irish race as he thought of others, and he went out of his way to insult their religion.

Mr. Sawyer, an advanced Nationalist, would not couple General Grant's name with America. The Irish who had sought a refuge and a home in the United States had received kindness and attention from the American people. President Grant had never given them the same recognition as the other inhabitants. It would be an impropriety to pay any mark of respect personally to General Grant.

Messrs Mcweeney and Creedon, Nationalists, spoke to the same effect, and, with a great shout of "aye," there being no dissenting voices, Cork refused to receive General Grant.

This action has produced a profound sensation throughout Ireland.

The people are grieved at it, as a violation of the rules of hospitality.

One Irish gentleman with whom I discussed the matter, and who was pained beyond measure at its occurrence, said: "The noisy little knot of fellows who committed this outrage are mere wind-bags, and were seeking a little notoriety. Cork has a weakness for being thought more Catholic than the Pope, who I believe saw no objection to receiving General Grant. General Grant remains in Dublin until to-morrow."

FRANCE.

Great Republican Victories in the Senatorial Elections.
PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Senatorial elections which took place to-day resulted in a great Republican triumph. Of the Conservative Senators whose terms expired, only thirteen have been re-elected. All the retiring Republican Senators have been re-elected.

The general result shows the election of fifteen Conservative and sixty-two Republicans. The Republican majority in the Senate will be about fifty-seven. The second ballots are necessary in the Departments of Haute Garonne, and Landes. The result of the election in Martinique is not yet known.

Among the newly elected Republican Senators are MM Fourrier, Ambassador of Turkey; De Remusat, Fay, and Massy, and General Faidherb, Among the rejected conservatives are MM. de Belcastel, LaCave, Beme, Dufaur de Gavarrie, Adrian, de Montgolfier, Viscomte de Mexu, M. de Peyre, M. de Bechar, Comte Daru, General Boissonnet, M. Bernart Duriel, M. Bompard, Comte de Bouille, Marshal Canrobert, and Generals Pourcel, Loyse, and De Espinell.

COLD WAVE.

The Weather Bureau Predicts the Second Cold Wave.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The officers of the weather bureau give some hope for milder weather. Indeed, the temperature has already somewhat moderated, but there are signs of a second cold wave in the extreme Northwest. Private dispatches received here to-day from New Orleans say the thermometer has been down to two degrees above zero—something almost unknown in that latitude. While the effect may be very beneficial on the yellow fever germs, it is feared that the orange crop will be destroyed, as the orange tree is not able to endure a temperature lower than about 20 degrees above zero. The Weather Bureau officials consider the present Arctic wave the most remarkable since the establishment of the Bureau.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

MILWAUKEE, Jan 5.—This evening a widow named Marie Schultz, aged 60 years, was found dead upon the floor of her shanty, in the rear of No. 713 Knickinick avenue. The deceased had not been seen by her neighbors for several days. As she was very intemperate, it is supposed that she lay down upon the floor in a drunken stupor and froze to death.

CHEAP READING.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5.—Ex-Governor Marshall left this evening in search of his 15 year-old son George, who ran away from home Friday. The boy had a railroad ticket for Chicago, but was not on the train when it reached Milwaukee Saturday. The run away is only explained by the lad having lately devoted himself to reading stories of adventure in trashy papers published for boys.

A CHRISTMAS TREE.

$5,000 Found in a Tree.

From the Lynchburg Virginian, 24th. A treasure up a tree was seen in the watches of the night by a peddler, who was sleeping in a farm house in the Sherandoah Valley. He told his dream to the farmer next morning, and on three successive nights he had the same vision. Then he prevailed on the farmer to accompany him to the forest, where he pointed out a large oak tree as the one he had seen in his dream. It was apparently sound in the butt, but about twenty feet up a limb had been broken off. The farmer did not feel like humbugging what he supposed to be a superstitious whim, but the old fellow seemed to have the confidence in his vision, and offered him one-half the spoils if he would help him cut down the tree. When the tree fell there was a rattling of coin near where the limb had been broken off, and a small hollow was found there. By a little chopping a larger cavity was found, and within was a mass of silver. Both seemed wild with delight, and on counting up found that the pile amounted to $5,000. The peddler expressed his unwillingness to carry around so much silver in his pocket, and inquired where he would be likely to get good backs for his share. The farmer, having considerable money in his house, immediately transferred to the peddler $2,500 in paper money and took charge of the entire lot of silver. The peddler disappeared, and when his partner attempted to pass some of the silver, lo! it was counterfeit. He was the victim of a gang of coiners.

General Grant's sons, U. S. Jr., and Jesse, occupy a suite of rooms in the "Bella Vista," at 48 East Twenty-sixth street, in New York. Like good boys they went to church on Sunday morning, and like good sons of a distinguished smoker they knocked the ashes out of their pipes before leaving the rooms. Shortly afterwards fire was discovered in the room, but it so happened that there wasn't much damage done.

Hosts of People are Martyrs.

To sick headache, that infallible symptom of a disordered stomach, liver and bowels. Many suffer from it as many as three or four times a week. They do so needlessly, for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by toning the digestive organs and regulating the bowels and liver, removes the cause, and dispels the painful symptom. The intimate sympathy between the brain and the abdominal region causes the slightest disorder affecting the latter to be reflected, as it were, in the organ of thought. The reform instituted by the Bitters when the digestive, secretory and evacuative functions are in a state of chaos, has other and more beneficial results, viz, the complete nutrition of the whole physical economy, the restoration of appetite and repose, and an increase in the power of the system to resist diseases of a malarial type.

—The new uniform in which Marshal Keating appears to-day is very neat, being of dark blue with white metal buttons. The new clothes were presented to the Marshal by several citizens who took this way of indicating their appreciation of the valuable services of that official. Keating deserves such tributes as he is a most faithful and efficient officer, and a shrewd detective.

—There was considerable rope-tying at the Opera House last evening, the spirits from another world being supposed to undo the knots. Various other mediumistic manifestations were given, but none of a very startling or novel nature. The mediums claimed that W. Irving Bishop, who was here some months ago, as an exponent of spiritualism, was only an imitator, and that the tricks which he did were but ingenious imitations of the real manifestations of spirit life. They did not, however, point out very clearly where the difference came in, but the audience were allowed to take their word for it that there was a difference.

—The jail is getting full of tramps again. The attractions there are greater than the summer time. It is cold out of doors, and hard travelling, and with plenty of warmth and plenty of food in jail, the contrast is so to cause many to seek these winter quarters. In the summer time the tramps are made to work, but now they busy themselves mainly with keeping warm and doing nothing. The authorities should devise some employment for the idle hands, and if no other present itself the tramps might be employed in shovelling off the snow from such sidewalks as have been neglected. There are many such along the center of which is a beaten track wide enough for a single person. The drifts on each side might be cleared up. In some other cities the plan of keeping the tramps at work during the cold weather has a most gratifying effect upon that genus of wanderers.

SUNDAY SPIRITS.

Last evening some three or four hundred persons, of all ages, complexions, and previous condition of intellectual servitude, wended their way to the Opera House, in search of truth concerning the spirit land. It was announced on the hand bills that a collection would be taken at the door to defray expenses, but those who came, expecting to slip in old buttons and old pennies, were sadly disappointed, as "the collection" consisted of taking two shillings from every person, before granting them admission. The exercises opened by the announcement that the two mediums who were to appear, were acknowledged to be the best in the world, and they had been sent hither by wealthy spiritualists in Boston, to counteract the hostile influence of the alleged exposures by W. Irving Bishop, Cook, and others. They commenced operations by doing a variety of tricks which had been done by many slight of hand performers before. They did these as showing the class of tricks which these so-called expositors did. The real spiritualistic manifestations were to follow, and a committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. Guild, Kent, Dr. Horne and Dr. Milbank, and they were to watch closely to detect any seeming fraud. One of the mediums was tied in the cabinet, and Dr. Milbank of the committee, was chosen to sit in the cabinet with him. The curtains were drawn to and soon bells commenced to ring and tamborines jingled. The curtains were then opened and Dr. Milbank assured the audience, and the rest of the committee that the thing was fair and square and the medium had not moved. Had Dr. Milbank been one with whom the audience was acquainted, this might have convinced them that the manifestations were really spiritualistic, but as no one seemed to know who he was or where he came from, there was a whispering of dissatisfaction. This dissatisfaction increased when the medium announced that the doings were at an end and bid them good night. The spiritualistic manifestations were over. Some laughed, some groaned, some swore, but it did no good. Their two shilling bits were gone, and the spirits had departed with them.

JACK'S TALK.

The main floor of Lappin's hall was packed yesterday afternoon at the temperance meeting. All the seats were taken and some of the audience were obliged to stand. Jack Warburton, the reformed drunkard, gave one of his characteristic addresses. He related some of his personal experiences, which were thrilling, and made some strong appeals in favor of total abstinence. He showed the influence which mothers could exert over their boys, and gave the young women some excellent hints. The speaker has appeared before in this city, and is now gladly welcomed back. His talks are always interesting and profitable, and his auditors eagerly listen to all he has to say. He is a fine singer as well, and yesterday sang several songs, which proved not the least attractive feature of the meeting. Mr. Warburton is an enthusiastic and radical cold water man, who goes at his work without any gloves and who strikes right from the shoulder.

S.—H. F. Notbohm.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 7 degrees below zero, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 12 above.

The indications are for the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and the upper lake region, falling barometer, northwest back to warmer west and south-west winds, clear, followed by hazy or cloudy weather.

REV. MR. SAWIN FOUNDED.
The other evening the First Congregational church took advantage of their pastor's invitation to have a social gathering at his house, to set upon him and his family in full force and gave them a most abundant pounding. But the pastor confessed that he was not seriously damaged, and thinks he has really no cause of action against the church and society. The marks left were wholly upon the table, and they consisted of numerous brown paper parcels of sugar, coffee, tea, raisins, starch, rice, flour, buckwheat, candy, and other things bought by the pounds, and especially necessary to one who keeps house. Even the baby was remembered with a beautiful silver mug. The evening was spent in happy social intercourse, and when the hour for departure came all felt that both pastor and people were bound in closer and happier bonds than ever.

WORTHY OF RECORD.
The lot and building opposite Doty's mill have been purchased by Mr. Thomas Lappin, who gave the property to his daughter, Mrs. Henry Doty, as a Christmas gift. This property was originally owned by Mr. Lappin, he being in fact the first and last man to own it, though it has changed hands many times since he first sold it. The building is the same which thirty or more years ago occupied the site upon which Lappin's block now stands. It was used by Mr. Lappin as a store for general merchandise in the earliest years of the history of the city. That it should again come into his possession and be thus presented to his daughter is an event surely worthy of record.

THE NEW COUNTY OFFICERS.

To-day the County officials enter upon their new terms of office. With one exception each official was his own successor. That exception was Sheriff Colley, who was succeeded by John Comstock, now Sheriff Comstock. The jail and all that is therein was turned over to Sheriff Comstock, and Mr. Colley stepped out with an "Ex" placed before his former title. Mr. Colley has served the county in a most faithful and satisfactory manner for two years past, and under his administration the jail has been managed in a very wise and economical manner. It is seldom that any county is so fortunate as to have the services of so efficient and honest an officer as Sheriff Colley, and still more seldom that a county is so fortunate as to have a successor so worthy a man as Sheriff Comstock. During Mr. Colley's term he has not allowed a single prisoner to escape, though numerous and desperate attempts have been made to break jail. There is not the least whisper against him, and hardly a breath of criticism, and his record is such as will ever be an honor to him. Sheriff Comstock steps into the office, as an experienced man, familiar with the duties assigned him, and capable and anxious to do them well.

To-day was moving day at the jail. Mr. Colley's furniture and household effects were being loaded up, preparatory to a trip to his Beloit home, and the goods and effects of the new comer were being put in place. In taking possession of the jail Sheriff Comstock is given charge of twenty-two prisoners. Some old knives, pocket books, and various trinkets were given into his custody, also the club and the bag of bloody clothes which were shown in the Mack murder trial. Sheriff Comstock will make some changes in his force, the most important of which is the appointment of Sam Kenniston as turnkey in place of Mr. Marsh. The latter will go back to Clinton where his home is. Mr. Marsh has proved a very efficient officer and has done good work for the county, which will not be soon forgotten. Mr. Kenniston who succeeds him is a resident of the Second ward, and has been employed in the shoe factory. He is said to be well fitted for the position.

A PRIVATE EXAMINATION.
The examination in the case of the State vs. James Snell was begun before Justice Balch to-day. All persons were excluded from hearing it except the parties concerned, the witnesses and the attorneys. The nature of the testimony is, necessarily, such as to make this exclusion justifiable, and even commendable. The nature of the alleged outrage has been already sufficiently outlined in the Gazette, and in the testimony as given by the complainant to-day, there was little beyond that already given, except the details, which are kept from the public. Attorney Sale appears for the State, and Attorney William Smith for the defendant. The examination will probably last several days, as the defense has a large number of witnesses subpoenaed. Snell is accompanied by his wife, who links arms with him as he goes back and forth from the jail, and seems to be very tender of him, taking the pains to pull down his shirt cuffs so as to conceal the iron bracelets which decorate his wrists.

CITY NOTICES.
Miss Francis E. Willard will deliver a lecture in the First Congregational church of this city, next Wednesday evening, Jan. 8th. Subject "Who Wins?" This lecture was well received in Boston and is considered one of her best. Admission 25 cents. Tickets for sale at Sutherland's Book Store.

Killed While Playing "Grandfather's Clock."
North Carolina Telegram to Cincinnati Enquirer.
Particulars of the most horrible tragedy enacted yesterday in Watuga, this State, have just reached this place. James B. Martin, an upright young man and a famous amateur musician, was spending the afternoon at Major Harrison Osborne's. While he was entertaining the lady members of Osborne's family with a performance on the violin the Major came in; he was tight and a little quarrelsome. The tune being rendered was "Grandfather's Clock." "Play faster," said Osborne. "Never mind," said Martin, "I am playing all right. What do you know about music, any how?" "I will show you what I know," said Osborne, and with that drew a revolver and fired three times, each ball taking effect in the fiddler's head. The first ball struck him in the forehead, "Lord, Osborne, you have killed me," cried Osborne, who was a witness of the bloody deed, tried to prevent it, but her entreaties were of no avail. The murderer fled for parts unknown.

A MILLIONAIRE GAMBLER.
A striking illustration of the Great Vice of California.
Virginia City Letter in N. Y. Graphic.
An illustration of the hold which gambling has upon men who have once been engaged in mining is afforded by the life of O'Brien, late a member of the bonanza firm. In the days of his struggles and poverty this man had been accustomed to play "old sledge" for five cents a corner in his old room in San Francisco. He was fortunate in having Flood and Mackay and Fair for partners, and he became worth millions before he knew it. But to the day of his death he never forgot his "old sledge." He took no interest in the business of the firm, simply leaving his money for the others to work upon. He passed his time in the little old bar room playing his favorite game with his old friends and generally winning the great cent stakes of the poor devils with whom he played. There was nothing mean about O'Brien. He was simply a gambler by instinct and custom, as most miners are, and he continued the fascinating play until death claimed him as his own winning.

There is nothing disgraceful in gambling in this community, and the men who run the games and steal, so to speak, the hard earned wages of the miners are looked upon as the leading "gentlemen" of the town. The reputed owner of the heaviest game in Gold Hill is a member of the Methodist church, sings revival hymns with deep emotion, and at the late election was chosen State Senator over a very worthy gentleman and merchant. This will serve to show the estimation in which gamblers are held here. They are, so to speak, the cream of the land.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a good cathartic. SWAYNE'S TAILOR AND SARGENT'S PILLS are prepared expressly to meet this necessity; being composed of purely vegetable ingredients, of which Podophyllin and Mandrake, Pine Tree Tar, Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock and other concentrated juices enter largely into their composition; the whole strength of which is extracted on an entirely new principle. They are mild in their operation, produce no griping, and are truly a valuable purgative agent, anti-bilious and cathartic medicine. They stimulate the liver to healthy action, cleanse the stomach and bowels of all impurities. Curing sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia or indigestion, bilious, intermittent, remittent and congestive fevers, lameness, drowsiness, itching of the back, head, slight chills, with flushes of heat, female irregularities, and for a bilious and constive habit, no medicine is so prompt and effectual as DR.
